

Zaid Nasser - The son of jazz and blues legend Jamil Nasser, Zaid learned directly from some of the most seminal figures in jazz history. He was a featured soloist with Panama Frances' Savoy Sultans, Memphis blues icon Calvin Newborn and the pioneering jazz organist Bill Dogget. A renowned Jazz Ambassador, for the U.S. State Department, he is also a Steeplechase Records recording artist.

Ari Roland - As a Jazz Ambassador for the U.S. State Department, Ari has lead over 130 tours throughout Europe, Asia, Africa and the Middle East. He has also performed with many of the most significant jazz artists of the last three decades, including Wynton Marsalis, Betty Carter, Barry Harris, Lou Donaldson, and Harry Connick Jr.

Keith Balla - In addition to frequent Jazz Ambassador tours, Keith performs regularly in New York with many of the city's most respected and dynamic artists. As a clinician, he has conducted jazz drum workshops in more than 40 countries worldwide, and records frequently in both the U.S. and Europe.
